2017 FINRA

Blockchain Symposium

Bringing the industry together to discuss the challenges and opportunities around distributed ledger technology (DLT)

Agenda

FINRA's Blockchain Symposium

FINRA's Blockchain Symposium is designed to bring together regulators and industry leaders to discuss the use of blockchain and related opportunities and challenges. The half-day symposium is designed to look at the changes that are occurring or may occur in the future as a result of the implementation of DLT applications in the financial industry. It also features discussions of the potential market and regulatory implications of these changes.

Continuing Education (CE) Credits

Attendance to this symposium qualifies for Certified Regulatory and Compliance Professional™ (CRCP) and Continuing Legal Education (CLE) continuing education credits. CLE attendees will receive a five (5)-credit CLE CE voucher from NACLE (National Academy of Continuing Legal Education) for attending the Blockchain Symposium.
